Employ sophisticated grammar in context (tense use, alternation between indicative/subjunctive, use of coordinating and subordinating conjunctions); 2. Compare the different options that are available in a given context (sentence, text) taking into account differences in meaning or register; 3. Explain grammatical structures in context and translate them.
Evaluation methods	Written assessment. Oral assessment on line if required by the sanitary situation.
Teaching methods	Lectures and practical exercises
Content	First semester: study of the subjunctive and the complex sentence (in particular subordination). First and second terms: study of various points not covered in the first year (past simple, indirect speech, pronoun "sé", etc.). In the second semester, directed exercises in translation from French into Italian are organised. They aim to activate the knowledge acquired (lexicon and grammar) and to avoid duplication. For more details, we refer to the distance learning platform.
