Content	Meilensteine der deutschen Kulturgeschichte This year's course will study some fundamental milestones in the history of German-speaking societies and cultures, from the Reformation and the figure of Luther to the post-Second World War period. Certain key words, such as the myth of Siegfried or the deutsche Romantik, will be the subject of an interdisciplinary approach, bringing together literature and the arts as well as different periods, by highlighting, for example, the legacy of Romanticism on the music of Wagner or the philosophy of Nietzsche. A significant part of the course will consider the history of Germany in its interaction with that of its European neighbours in the form of interconnected history (verflochtene Geschichte). In particular, we will show how the Franco-German perspective, which generated confrontations and conflicts in the 19th and 20th centuries, has today been transformed, thanks to cultural exchanges, into a founding association of European integration. Finally, the German-speaking areas outside Germany - such as Austria, Switzerland and German-speaking Belgium (Ostbelgien) - will also be covered, with an excursion to Eupen planned.
Bibliography	Un portefeuille de textes spécialisés, critiques et théoriques, diffusés par différents moyens (support écrit et scans).
