Main themes	Help the students getting control on phonetics and spelling, developing the student's communicative competence in general Italian by practicing basic notions/functions of the language as well as basic vocabulary.
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. understand short texts written in common everyday language relating to everyday life (short letters, advertisements, notices, etc.); understand short, simple narrative or descriptive texts.; 2. understand phrases and the highest frequency vocabulary related to areas of most immediate personal relevance (e.g. personal and family information, shopping, employment). He/she can catch the main points in short, clear, simple messages and announcements; 3. Speak about himself/herself, his/her environment and living conditions; communicate simple and current tasks requiring only short and direct exchange; 4. Write short and current documents (e.g, a postcard, a notice.). At the end of the course: A1+ level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.
Evaluation methods	In each session, the assessment consists of a written test (various exercises + a short written production) and an oral test (listening compréhension + reading a text + oral production) The assessment content will be based on the materials and references of the first term (Q1) as weekly indicated in moodle. In the final score, the ratio between the written and the oral part is 50/50. Formative assessments will take place during the course. Their results will not affect the final score. During the official assessment the use of books or other on-or offline materials is not allowed.
Teaching methods	The method gets its inspiration from the notional/functional approach and is mainly centered on developing communicative oral skills, not disregarding some simple forms of written skills. Some examples of activities in the class: exercises to enhance pronunciation and spelling, drills, simple conversation in pairs or small groups, listening comprehension (by means of audio/video material), writing simple texts, listening to songs etc.
Content	Acquisition of phonetics and spelling rules of the Italian language. Development of elementary communicative competences through the acquisition of basic language notions/functions and vocabulary. Focus on cultural aspects.
Inline resources	Mandatory course material: During the information session the teacher will communicate the title of the course book. Besides that, complementary learning material will be available in the course Moodle. The teacher will also advise links to different complementary websites (extra exercises, dictionary, verbs conjugation etc.), also available in Moodle
