Q1

This biannual learning is being organized in 2023-2024

Teacher(s)	Richelle Matthieu ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	In order to achieve this end, - some significant text from Old Testament narrative literature will be studied, with an explanation of the exegetical method and an illustration of the interest of exegetical basic tools; - some scientific literature about the texts will be read; - anthropological and theological aspects of the analysed texts will be developed, and their particular contribution in the context of biblical thought enlightened.
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to :  1 - understand the main procedures of biblical exegesis and apply them on a narrative text of the Old Testament ;  2 - situate the anthropological and theological contribution of significant texts of the Old Testament narrative literature ;  3 - understand and criticise scientific works in Old Testament exegesis.
Evaluation methods	Exegetical paper to submit at the end of Q1. Attendance is required. In accordance with article 72 of the General Regulations for Studies and Examinations, the professor may propose to the jury that a student who has not attended at least 80% of the courses be refused registration in the January/June or September session. The evaluation requirements are the same in Q3 as in Q1.
Teaching methods	We will apply to the selected texts the main exegetical procedures relevant for narrative texts and pertaining to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• translation</li> <li>• textual criticism</li> <li>• compositional criticism</li> <li>• literary context</li> <li>• history and geography</li> <li>• literary structure</li> <li>• intertextuality</li> <li>• narrative criticism</li> <li>• reception history</li> </ul> Not all of these approaches will receive the same degree of attention, but all will be illustrated during the course. The active participation of students is required.
Content	The Books of Kings This course will examine selected texts from the Books of Kings, in particular 1 Kgs 17-19.
