Learning outcomes
Evaluation methods	Continuous assessment, via two group assignments to be submitted during the term, worth 50% of the grade, and presented orally. This final mark will be adjusted by + or - 3 points according to attendance and participation in the course. Students' attendance will be counted systematically at the beginning of each session. In the second session: failed assignments will be retaken according to the same procedures.
Teaching methods	Classroom sessions (unless otherwise indicated) Attendance and participation in the sessions will count towards the final grade.
Inline resources	The session powerpoints are available on Moodle. They form the summaries of the course, on which the note-taking should be grafted. These resources also form the basis for group work, which takes the form of case studies and/or market analyses.
