UCLouvain	lecri1508 2024	Introduction to general clinical and criminological Psychology

4.00 credits	30.0 h	Q1

Teacher(s)	Janssen Christophe ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Learning outcomes
Evaluation methods	Written evaluation
Teaching methods	Lectures
Content	1. Historical and epistemological approach to clinical psychology This first step will epistemologically situate the discipline "clinical psychology". It will also be a question of understanding its evolution within a changing society. 2.Elements of psychoanalysis This second stage of teaching will consist in transmitting to the students a theorization of the psychic apparatus as proposed by psychoanalysis. We will discuss the notions of symptom, impulse, transfer, etc. 3. Notions of psychopathology In a third step, it will be a question of discovering various pathologies (psychoses, neuroses, perversions). 4. Criminological Clinical Issues This last phase of the teaching will make it possible to integrate the three points that precede by articulating them to criminological questions (i.e. criminality of sectarian movements).
Inline resources	Moodle - Teams
Bibliography	• CANGUILHEM G. [1966], Le normal et le pathologique, Paris, Presses universitaires de France, 2005. • CHABERT C., VERDON B., Psychologie clinique et psychopathologie, Paris, Presses universitaires de France, 2008. • ROUSSILLON R., Manuel de psychologie et de psychopathologie générale, Paris, Elsevier Masson, 2014. • WINNICOTT D.W., Playing and Reality, London:Routledge, 1971. • ...
Faculty or entity in charge	ECRI

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Learning outcomes
Minor in Criminology	MINCRIM	5		🔍
Master [120] in Criminology	CRIM2M	6		🔍