Teaching methods	The teacher provides the tools and involves the student in reflection and creativity so that he or she can conceptualise spelling as a system and propose classifications, written justifications and oral interactions. This is why the course is structured in different phases: discovery, in-depth study, automation, clarification, summary and presentation. Class work is divided into three phases <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Revision (presentation and exercises/games) prepared by the student.</li> <li>2. Discovery of new content and reinvestment, starting with comprehension documents and moving on to written and/or oral production.</li> <li>3. Recapitulation/summary of new knowledge by the student, using multiple intelligences, games, songs, slogans, mind maps, etc.</li> </ol> The course takes place face-to-face, but some sessions could take place in teams if distance learning offers added pedagogical value.
Content	The design and aim of this course is to reinforce students' knowledge of grammar at B1 level. Through activities offered in class or online, students are encouraged to act and use different strategies of research, induction or deduction, justification and explanation to understand how grammar, verb tenses and spelling work. Using a corpus as a starting point, the students, like detectives of the French language, must undertake grammatical missions to be carried out collectively and collaboratively. The aim is to understand the meaning of a grammatical rule through the involvement of the learner-subject, supported by the group. Students are invited to acquire, apply, summarise, demonstrate and explain grammatical rules in a fun and varied way, using mind maps, games, sketches and multiple intelligences, while collaborating with other students.
