Main themes	Upgrading the foundations of musical theory (solfeggio, bases of formal and harmonic analysis). Knowledge of the most important musical forms and genres (form-sonata, fugue, suite of dances, theme and variation, aria da capo, rondo, etc.). The contribution of this Teaching Unit to the development and command of the skills and learning outcomes of the programme(s) can be accessed at the end of this sheet, in the section entitled 'Programmes/courses offering this Teaching Unit'.
Evaluation methods	The evaluation mode is twofold: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• continuous evaluation based on progressive analysis exercises carried out throughout the semester (30% of the grade);</li> <li>• written examination including a more theoretical part and a part of analysis on scores on the model of the practical exercises made during the course (70% of the note).</li> </ul> Participation in the course and exercises are mandatory.
Teaching methods	This is a course that is both theoretical and practical. The two aspects are integrated in the same teaching: the exercises (solfeggio, theory, notions of analysis and writing) fit directly into the main part of the course. The teaching has an interactive and progressive character for which the presence of the student is required. Student participation is solicited at each session, informally. The exercises delivered by the students and corrected by the teacher or the assistant (individual and progressive work) are an indispensable part of this learning process. After a broad introduction that outlines the genres and forms of Western music and highlights some of the major works of the repertoire, the course develops around concerts in which students are invited to participate and commented plays of works from the classical repertoire or current creations. Different levels are foreseen, according to the knowledge of each one. Remediation courses are also organized to enable everyone to acquire the required skills.
Content	The course is divided into three parts <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The first is a refresher and / or a deepening of the basic elements of the musical technique (solfeggio, theory).</li> <li>• The second part considers the basics of harmonic and tonal analysis (chord theory, harmonic path, etc.).</li> <li>• The third part focuses on the structural analysis of some major works in the repertoire, representative of the genres and forms of Western music.</li> </ul>
