Language :	Spanish
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Prerequisites	LFIAL1711 Fundamentos del español moderno I LROM1180 Fundamentos del español moderno II LROM1281 Introducción al análisis lingüístico de corpus en español The prerequisite(s) for this Teaching Unit (Unité d'enseignement – UE) for the programmes/courses that offer this Teaching Unit are specified at the end of this sheet.
Main themes	This course deals with the characteristics of spoken and written Spanish, as well as with register differences. We will deal with topics such as (subject) pronoun use and deictics, linguistic politeness, discourse markers, coherence in the production '
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : 1 At the end of this course, the students will have acquired in-depth knowledge of the characteristics of the (spoken and written) registers of modern Spanish. In addition, students will be able to analyse linguistic data from spoken and written Spanish, by consulting corpus data and referring to the scientific literature of this field, and to current theories. Through these activities, students will also improve their linguistic competences concerning the use of different registers, as is part of the global aim: to reach the level B2 at the end of the cycle and to acquire certain competences of level C1.
Evaluation methods	• Oral exam (12/20) • Paper (8/20) (apply the analysis of one of the topics dealt with in a class on a (mini)corpus of own choice). If the student uses generative artificial intelligence tools, this has to be done in a responsible way and in compliance with good practice standards of academic and scientific integrity. Since the scientific integrity implies that one cites one's sources, the use of AI always has to be mentioned. The use of AI for tasks where this has been explicitly forbidden will be considered a case of fraud. For the August resit, students who did not pass the written paper in the June session, should resubmit an improved version of the paper. The evaluation is entirely in Spanish.
Teaching methods	The course consists of the explanation of the articles and of the application of the proposed analyses on the topics that are dealt with in this course. The students are required to prepare the scientific articles on the topics that are dealt with. These articles will be explained in class. In addition, students are required to practice the use of corpora both during class and autonomously.
Content	The aim of this course is to apply linguistic analyses and to introduce different phenomena in the realm of the pragmatics of spoken and written Spanish.
