Main themes	The course looks at the classic tools of estate planning (matrimonial agreements, donations, wills, life insurance, companies) from both a civil law and a tax law perspective.
Learning outcomes
Evaluation methods	A traditional examination session is used to assess the student's knowledge. In line with the case method, written examinations are preferred, with an open-ended questionnaire.
Teaching methods	The course is given to a small audience and favours interactive teaching. The case method is the best way of meeting the course specifications: the cases presented and commented on by the lecturer are solved during the session, providing a useful opportunity to compare the respective advantages and disadvantages of the various tools to be used or solutions proposed.
Content	The course studies the classic tools of tax law, corporate law and family property law, but focuses on them from a dynamic and practical advisory perspective, combining the civil and tax aspects of the same issue.
Inline resources	The syllabus is available on Moodle, as are explanatory capsules where appropriate.
Other infos	Students are advised to collect cases on their own that they can present to the course, or cross-reference with those proposed by the teacher.
