Evaluation methods	Philosophy : Written and/or oral examination Sociology : Written exam, testing not only students' ability to reproduce information (closed questions as definitions or "fill-in-the-blank"), but also their understanding of the subject matter (open questions as comparison of authors or mobilization of a concept to shed light on a social phenomenon). In case of a fail grade at the first session, you're invited to visit the web page of the course and check the details. A 10/20 or higher mark will automatically be transferred to a second or third exam session. It's thus not possible to re-sit the exam related to this part of the course.
Teaching methods	Philosophy : Face-to-face, first term, 30 hours of theory. The reading of the texts to be analysed is recommended. Sociology : Idem. Lecture built first on the presentation of a piece of famous research, then on the concepts and principles of analysis it mobilizes.
Content	Philosophy : Dialog between the european and the chinese philosophy Sociology: The main aim is to familiarize students with the logic of sociological reasoning and give them keys to understanding their society. More specifically, it aims to : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• enable them to acquire a general sociological culture and the basics of disciplinary language;</li> <li>• introduce them to authors, theories and concepts that will awaken their curiosity about today's social world and enable them to adopt a critical and sociological perspective on it;</li> <li>• introduce them to the main principles of sociological analysis;</li> <li>• enable them to understand the specificity of sociology among the disciplines of the human sciences, particularly philosophy.</li> </ul>
Inline resources	Sociology : PowerPoint presentations will be made available on the course website as and when the sessions take place (at the latest the day before).
