| Main themes                 | The contents of this teaching depend on the experts giving the lectures. A priority is given to comparative dimension, whether it is within the European framework or outwards. The choice of the personalities is given each year by POLS Department on proposal of SPRI Unit.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Learning outcomes           | At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : 1 This course aims at introducing the students to the issues of change in public organizations or policies, at the internal and/or international level by means of lectures given by guest-speakers. Coming from universities, political circles or civil service, these experts are invited to present and discuss with the students (projects of) the reforms in the political and administrative field.                                                                    |
| Evaluation methods          | To determine in agreement with the invited teachers (presentation of a personal work or a group work, critical synthesis of conferences, essay, written exam.). See the details for each professor in the field "méthodes d'enseignement" IMPORTANT: Participation in both parts of the course and the related assessments is mandatory. Failure to participate in one part of the course (a so-called "attendance" grade in this respect is equivalent to a lack of participation) results in a grade of absence for the entire course. |
