

5.00 credits

30.0 h

Q1

Language :	French > English-friendly
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Learning outcomes
Teaching methods	Lecture with visual aids that will rely on students' active participation and engagement with the required readings. Assessment of Student Learning 1st Session Group Project Continuous assessment based on exercises to be completed during class 2nd Session Grades from continuous assessment cannot be made up and are final for the entire session The group project grade can be made up through an oral exam About the Use of Artificial Intelligence Any use of artificial intelligence must be explicitly stated and made visible in the work. Artificial intelligence may be used as a writing aid (spelling and grammar correction, translation of citations into other languages, stylistic improvement). Under no circumstances should artificial intelligence be used to generate text or to analyze or synthesize scientific articles or books.
Content	The aim of this course is to explore different forms and exercises of power and counter-power within organizations from a communication perspective. The overall objective is to gain a deep understanding of how power is exercised, negotiated, and challenged within organizations, and how political processes operate there. An overview of theories of power in the social sciences will be provided, demonstrating how these theories have been applied in organizational communication studies.
Faculty or entity in charge	COMU

Programmes containing this learning unit (UE)
Program title	Acronym	Credits	Prerequisite	Learning outcomes
Master [120] in Communication	CORP2M	5		