Teacher(s)	Schamps Geneviève ;
Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	The course examines several compensation schemes based on the occurrence of an accident or disaster. Some of them are distinct from a fault-based civil liability and are central to damage compensation law. The teaching pays particular attention to existing regimes and the future prospects.
Learning outcomes
Evaluation methods	The exam is written and covers only the material seen during the course. It may consist of questions commenting on a court decision, casus resolution or include open-ended questions. Legislation and regulations seen in the course may be brought to the examination, provided they are not annotated. They may be colored. Reference to other legal provisions is allowed. Publications, case law decisions and slides (powerpoint) cannot be brought to the examination.
Inline resources	The course material is composed of slides (powerpoint), articles of doctrine and case law decisions that illustrate the subject.
