

This learning unit is not open to incoming exchange students!

Language :	French > English-friendly
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Main themes	The training course takes place in an active institution in the field of communicating history, in the public or private sector, in Belgium or abroad. It is carried out with a training course supervisor, preferably a historian by formation, affiliated with this institution. The training course comprises on average 240 hours during which the student is integrated into a professional environment. In the absence of concrete insertion into a professional environment, under the direction of the academic training course supervisor, the student will analyze and/or complete a communication project in history - directed in a professional environment.
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : 1 Discover the realities of a professional environment 2 Observe and carry out tasks concerned with the activity of this milieu 3 Deal with theories and practices as regards communicating history 4 Point to competencies transferable from your training towards a professional sector 5 Provide oneself document and orientation leading to employment
Evaluation methods	The final grade includes the evaluation of the academic supervisor based on the internship report and the evaluation given by the internship supervisor of the host institution. Generative artificial intelligence (AI) must be used responsibly following the practices of academic and scientific integrity. As scientific integrity requires that sources be cited, the use of AI must always be reported. The use of artificial intelligence for tasks where they are explicitly forbidden will be considered cheating. In this case, it is not allowed to write the final report, except for linguistic correction.
Content	In consultation with the direction and the internship supervisor, the student observes and analyzes the organization and functioning of the institution and its various services and participates in the institution's activities. With the help of the internship supervisor, he or she defines one or more communication projects of history. The presentation of the institution, its missions and services, and the project(s) developed by the student are the subject of an internship report.
Inline resources	Moodle L HIST 9535 contains all the information about internship's places and offers as well as all the documents needed to complete the internship.
Other infos	Possibility of doing an internship in English or in one another language. Students can apply for a Erasmus + fellowship if they want to do an internship abroad. The work placement must be carried out in the academic year in which it is included in the student's annual programme. In the workplace, the ban on wearing religious symbols stipulated in the work regulations also applies to interns.
