This biannual learning is being organized in 2026-2027

This learning unit is not open to incoming exchange students!

Language :	French
Place of the course	Louvain-la-Neuve
Prerequisites	Greek initiation, reading in English.
Main themes	In order to achieve this end, - some significant text from the New Testament Letters (or Revelation) will be studied, with an explanation of the exegetical method and an illustration of the interest of basic exegetical tools; - some scientific literature about the texts will be read; - anthropological and theological aspects of the analysed texts will be developed, and their particular contribution in the context of biblical thought enlightened.
Learning outcomes	At the end of this learning unit, the student is able to : 1 - understand the main procedures of biblical exegesis and apply them on a text from the New Testament Letters (or the Book of Revelation) ; 2 - situate the anthropological and theological contribution of significant texts of the New Testament Letters ; 3 - understand and criticise scientific works in Old Testament exegesis.
Content	2022-2023 This year's course will offer an ongoing reading of the Revelation of John , a text that is crucial not only for evaluating the Jewish roots of Christianity, but also for its rich reception and theological implications. We will therefore go through the text chapter by chapter, emphasizing the rhetorical techniques used and the theological implications of the author's words.
Bibliography	Une bibliographie élaborée sera présentée pendant les séances du cours.
Other infos	Prerequisite: Read and understand an article in English.
Faculty or entity in charge	TEBI
