INTP2M - Introduction

Introduction

INTP2M - Teaching profile

Learning outcomes

At the end of their training, students in interpreting will be experts in a wide and solid range of knowledge, know-how and skills which they can employ in all aspects of interpreting and thereby communicate all the nuances of a message, formed by an orator in a foreign language, in their mother tongue, French.

Therefore, at the end of their training, students will have:

- developed expertise in their working languages in the practice of interpreting;
- mastered the different interpreting techniques (consecutive and simultaneous) and become able to employ them in communicating messages in a language different to the original while respecting the orator's intentions and register;
- assimilated a range of thematic (disciplinary) and cultural knowledge which they are capable of employing and completing independently in order to carry out their interpreting assignments;
- mastered all aspects of oral communication, and in particular facility, register and accuracy, to a high level of expertise;
- become able to implement a rigorous scientific and methodological approach to an interpretation problem and thereby improve their service;
- become capable of respectfully and constructively holding discussions and collaborating with speakers and their colleagues;
- consolidated their technical and ethical skills and knowledge through their first professional experiences.

Additionally, students will have developed significant abilities to be adaptive and flexible, which allow them to confront various professional situations. Students will demonstrate tact and self-control at all times and will follow the profession's ethical code. Students will integrate a continuous developmental logic which allows them to perform as professionals demonstrating high-level expertise and flexibility and develop positively within the context of their work. Additionally, students will be conscious of developing and promoting their professional reputation and launching themselves on the job market.

On successful completion of this programme, each student is able to :

 - 1.1.
 - 1.2.
 - 1.3.
 - 1.4.
 - 1.4.
 - 1.5.
2. Demonstrate in-depth theoretical knowledge and know-how relevant to conference interpreting (consecutive and simultaneous) and an ability to employ them in a relevant and critical way in the context of conference interpreting.
 - 2.1. Master and employ analysis methods and tools for comprehension, and demonstrate deductive skills enabling them to distinguish between the essential and the non-essential parts of the discourse, while ensuring the nuances are maintained;
 - 2.2. Maintain a distance which allows the speech to be analysed in-depth;
 - 2.3. Assimilate theory-based transposition techniques and employ them in practice until they become automatic;
 - 2.4. Independently assimilate new knowledge and know-how and employ them rigorously and effectively in their professional practice;
 - 2.5. Identify and cast a critical eye over new theories in the field (which are the products of research) which are likely to shed light upon and develop their professional practice;
 - 2.6. Effectively use tools and techniques for documentary and terminological research;
 - 2.7. Adapt to new technological developments and incorporate them in their practice.
3. Demonstrate they have appropriated the intercultural knowledge necessary for the comprehension, analysis and contextualisation of speeches being interpreted and integrate that knowledge in practice to successfully render a faithful interpretation of all aspects of the source speech.
 - 3.1.
 - 3.2.
 - 3.3.
 - 3.4.
4. Identify the thematic (disciplinary) knowledge necessary, complement it independently as necessary, and employ it in a relevant manner in order to ensure that an interpreting assignment is of high quality.
 - 4.1. Master basic knowledge in various fields of discipline, sociolects and terminologies in both their A and C languages;
 - 4.2. Identify their information and documentation needs on the basis the interpreting assignment to be carried out;
 - 4.3. Develop documentary and terminology research strategies by effectively selecting and using the relevant tools and search engines;
 - 4.4. Demonstrate a critical and rigorous mind-set in the evaluation of sources;
 - 4.5. Acquire the new knowledge necessary and employ it in order to carry out the interpreting assignment;
 - 4.6. Create a network of expert informants and consult them as appropriate;
 - 4.7. Create an effective archive for their own documents and thereby formulate an easily-usable database.
5. Create and realize original, applied research implementing a scientific approach and rigorous methodology in the field of interpreting, interpretology, translation or terminology.
 - 5.1. Situate and define a dissertation problem in the field of interpreting, interpretology, translation or terminology, taking care to specify the context and clarify the applied research question(s) it raises;

- 5.2. Produce a review of scientific literature relating to the problem by critically questioning the validity and relevance of the available sources and knowledge;
- 5.3. Make critical choices of concepts, models and tools which are theoretically and empirically validated and relevant to the problem;
- 5.4. Employ the identified concepts, models and tools and adapt them as appropriate, or by creating new ones, in order to successfully reflect upon the specific problem;
- 5.5. Challenge the theoretical concepts and models employed when they are implemented in interpreting or translation practice and thereby cast a critical eye over the interpreting or translation choices;
- 5.6. Demonstrate an ability to summarize and formulate scientific conclusions;
- 5.7. Demonstrate diligence and construct theories, tools and/or action plans useful in professional practice as a translator or interpreter;
- 5.8. Integrate cultural and intercultural aspects connected to the problem being studied throughout the reflection process;
- 5.9. Demonstrate the specific rigour and quality required in interpreting both in terms of the composition and the presentation;
- 5.10. Critically identify the challenges linked to recent developments in research which touch upon the different fields of interpreting.
6. Professionally communicate, by employing their expert language skills and adapting to the context and target audience, including in the case of a new and previously unseen communication situation; respectfully and constructively interact and collaborate with the different actors involved in a given situation by employing verbal and nonverbal skills.
- 6.1. Communicate in a correct, structured, neutral and reasoned manner in their A and C languages in accordance with the communication conventions peculiar to the context and by adapting their communication (content and form) to the target audience and intended aims;
- 6.2. Communicate so as to establish a sense of trust with the audience, by adopting an appropriate tone and attitude;
- 6.3. Adapt to the "consumers" needs, by developing a sense of empathy, without distorting the original context of the speech;
- 6.4. Demonstrate the flexibility and enthusiasm to adapt to new and immediate communication situations;
- 6.5. Converse and interact in a respectful and constructive manner with different parties (both from a cultural point of view, as well as from the point of view of their role, the fields in which they practice and the domains where they possess disciplinary expertise):
- by employing verbal and nonverbal communication;
 - by demonstrating an ability to listen, open-mindedness, empathy and assertiveness;
- 6.6. Effectively integrate into and collaborate within a team (in different, multicultural learning and professional situations);
- 6.7. Interact and collaborate constructively and harmoniously with their colleagues in the interpretation booth in order to ensure a quality service.
7. Act as an academic and critical and responsible actor with a plan for continuing development.
- 7.1. Engage in professional practice in accordance with an academic approach which is scientifically founded (from a theoretical and methodological point of view) and characterised by a critical distance;
- 7.2. Engage in, make decisions and act in the context of work and with third parties in an independent and responsible manner;
- 7.3. Cast a critical eye over their knowledge, skills (linguistic and otherwise) and practice;
- 7.4. Independently put in place methods and opportunities to improve their skills as part of a system of continuing development which is indispensable in order to progress in a positive way in their social and professional environment.
8. Act as an interpreter demonstrating professionalism in respect of the ethical principles and quality standards of their profession, develop their professional image and position themselves on the job market.
- 8.1. Professionally manage the different stages from the request for an interpretation assignment to the provision of the interpretation service and only accept contracts students is able to honour;
- 8.2. Be aware of, comply with and apply the legal frameworks and ethical principles governing the interpreting profession (in particular discretion, confidentiality and professional secrecy);
- 8.3. Be aware of and apply, when providing their services, the profession's recognised quality standards and not accept an interpreting assignment if there is a risk it will take place in substantive conditions which do not allow for the provision of a quality service;
- 8.4. Keep themselves informed of developments in the profession and the quality standards;
- 8.5. Create a position for themselves with reference to their profession and expertise in interpreting, defining the scope of their services and specialisms, developing and promoting their professional image and placing themselves on the job market;
- 8.6. Demonstrate focus, perseverance, tact and self-control, particularly in stressful situations.

Programme structure

The programme is made up of :

- 75 credits core courses (including 15 credits for the dissertation and 12 credits for the work placement).
- one focus (30 credits);
- and optional courses (15 credits).

For a programme-type, and regardless of the focus, options/or elective courses selected, this master will carry a minimum of 120 credits divided over two annual units, corresponding to 60 credits each.

To be chosen from the Faculty or University programmes, with the agreement of the secretary of the examining board. Students must check with the lecturer in charge that they may follow the course(s) in question. If certain courses are available in the core subjects or in another option course, the credits may not exceed 6 with each of these headings. No courses may be taken from the professional focus.

Course prerequisites

A document entitled en-prerequis-2019-intp2m.pdf specifies the activities (course units - CU) with one or more pre-requisite(s) within the study programme, that is the CU whose learning outcomes must have been certified and for which the credits must have been granted by the jury before the student is authorised to sign up for that activity.

These activities are identified in the study programme: their title is followed by a yellow square.

As the prerequisites are a requirement of enrolment, there are none within a year of a course.

The prerequisites are defined for the CUs for different years and therefore influence the order in which the student can enrol in the programme's CUs.

In addition, when the panel validates a student's individual programme at the beginning of the year, it ensures the consistency of the individual programme:

- It can change a prerequisite into a corequisite within a single year (to allow studies to be continued with an adequate annual load);
- It can require the student to combine enrolment in two separate CUs it considers necessary for educational purposes.

For more information, please consult regulation of studies and exams.

The programme's courses and learning outcomes

For each UCLouvain training programme, a reference framework of learning outcomes specifies the competences expected of every graduate on completion of the programme. You can see the contribution of each teaching unit to the programme's reference framework of learning outcomes in the document "In which teaching units are the competences and learning outcomes in the programme's reference framework developed and mastered by the student?"

The document is available by clicking this link after being authenticated with your UCLouvain account.

Admission and Enrolment Procedures for general registration

Les demandes de renseignements complémentaires concernant l'admission sont à adresser à Mme Fiorella Flamini, conseillère aux études de la Faculté de philosophie, arts et lettres (conseiller.etudes-fial@uclouvain.be - tél. : +32 (0)10 47 48 57).

Procédures d'admission et d'inscription

Toute demande d'admission, d'inscription ou de réinscription (d'un candidat belge ou international) doit être introduite en ligne auprès du Service des inscriptions (SIC), selon la procédure décrite à l'adresse : <https://uclouvain.be/inscription>.

Si une autorisation ou dérogation facultaire est demandée par le Service des inscriptions (par exemple pour les diplômés des Hautes Écoles), la demande d'autorisation doit être introduite en Faculté de philosophie, arts et lettres, selon la procédure décrite à la page <https://uclouvain.be/fr/facultes/fial/procedures-d-inscription.html>.

Supplementary classes

To enrol for this Masters, the student must have a good command of certain subjects. If this is not the case, they must add preparatory modules to their Master's programme.

Teaching method

Main points in the teaching approach

- Many learning techniques come from the future professional life of the graduate translator

The teaching methods employed on the programme for the Master's in Interpreting have been designed with the perspective of the graduate's future professional life firmly in mind : a balanced mix of theory and practice, active learning in a central position, with an important place reserved for the development of professional skills.

The choice of teaching methods puts an emphasis on learning activities which focus on the expectations and requirements of the profession, to the extent of putting the students in a professional situation, in particular:

- classes (in the last year of the Master's) given by professional interpreters whose starting point in their teaching is their daily practice ;
- class-seminars in small groups allowing real interaction with the lecturer;
- collaboration with large international institutions (EU, EUROCONTROL, NATO, Council of Europe etc.): visits to their interpreting departments and work placements in a dummy booth ;
- themed modules designed to help students and lecturers, given several times a year by professional interpreters from the European Commission ;
- simulations of multilingual conferences to replicate real working conditions ; open mike experience in a professional setting for various organisations at conferences, regular events etc. ; these sessions are carefully chosen to respect best professional practice and are supervised by lecturers.

In this way, many programme modules and activity enable students to gain knowledge and develop the necessary skills to work as an interpreter.

The dissertation provides students with the opportunity to develop and make use of a rigorous academic and methodological procedure which will make them into a university level interpreter, capable of building and enriching their professional practice through theoretical input and a reflective approach.

Students can benefit from up to date IT systems as well as classrooms with simultaneous interpretation booths which are also available outside class time enabling students to practice amongst themselves.

- A variety of teaching strategies and learning methods

There is a variety of teaching methods relating to the different skills to be developed: formal lectures, exercise sessions, individual assignments, seminars, simulations of professional situations and work placements.

This variety of situations helps students to build their knowledge and develop their skills on an iterative basis whilst also developing independence, a sense of organisation and timekeeping and communication skills in different forms.

Evaluation

The evaluation methods comply with the regulations concerning studies and exams. More detailed explanation of the modalities specific to each learning unit are available on their description sheets under the heading "Learning outcomes evaluation method".

The assessment methods are in line with the General academic and examination regulations . Further details on each module are available from the description in the 'Assessment of learning outcomes' section.

To calculate the average, the marks gained for the modules are weighted according to their different credits.

The assessment methods vary according to the module and the nature of the learning outcomes: written or oral examinations, individual or group written reports (with or without an oral presentation). The following measures are also used:

- Aptitude test after a few weeks of class in the Master's 1 programme. This is designed to give students who have chosen the Master's in Interpreting an assessment of their ability to successfully complete the course. This is a compulsory aptitude test but is not a formal examination. Students who do not receive a positive assessment are able to switch to the Master's in Translation.
- For each of the work placements, assessment is based on three reports: one from the host organisation, one from the lecturer supervising the students and one from the student.
- During Master's 2 classes, organisation of mock exam boards designed to familiarise students with the exam, in front of a board made up of professionals. The aim is also to accustom students to the stress inherent in the profession as well as to prepare them for the competitive interpreting examinations of the big international organisations.
- An integrated assessment at the end of the Master's by a professional examination board made up of lecturers, professional interpreters from outside and representations of the interpreting departments of international organisations. This assessment is carried out by professionals according to the criteria for the frame of reference for learning outcomes (exit profile of the graduate) and the requirements of the professional environment (including CAT – Computer Assisted Translation), which ensures that the degree is recognised by the profession.

Mobility and/or Internationalisation outlook

The structure of the Master in Interpreting is such that a study visit abroad can take place only under certain conditions, examined on a case-by-case basis by the programme directors.
